

LEARN FOR LIFE

If an employee is not conscious of safety in their home life, there is no way they can become safety-minded by walking into your facility. Participation and involvement is the most effective means to promote off-the-job safety.

Off-The-Job Safety helps you promote safety as a way of life. (24/7/365)

Employees receive a booklet and quiz card (or custom activity) at home once per quarter on a topic you select. If we don't have a topic you're interested in, we'll research and write one for you. Once completed, the quiz card would be returned to the worksite, then shipped to AIM for tabulation. A safety reward gift (a promotional product) is distributed to those who participate, as a constant reminder of the topic.

This reward gift can be given each time the employee turns in their quiz card, or, if the company does one Learn for Life every quarter, the safety award can be given to those employees who have completed all four at the end of the year.
